Scattered showers this afternoon in the east portion and early tonight followed by clearing; fair Tuesday, a little cooler tonight.

ACCUSE NEGRO OF SLASHING MAN'S THROAT

Joseph Farr, who came here from Georgia to work on the new Lincoln Highway road job west of Gettysburg, and who rooms at 204 West High street, was treated at the Warner hospital early Sunday morning for knife cuts on the throat, left elbow and left hand.

John Robinson, 59, formerly of Philadelphia, who also resides at the West High street address, will have a hearing before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore Tuesday morning on a charge of aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill. He is in the Adams county jail in default of $1,500 bail.

5 Stitches In Throat

Farr filed the charge against Robinson, claiming that when he went to his rooming house at 2:45 o'clock Sunday morning, Robinson was waiting in a hallway, and slashed him with a penknife. Borough police said Robinson admitted the assault, and said it had followed a poker game in which both men were players.

Police took Farr to the hospital, where five stitches were taken in his throat, four on his left hand and three on his left elbow. Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster said. He filed the charge after his discharge from the hospital, and police said Robinson was arrested at 4 a.m. at the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity house, where he is employed as a cook. Police said Robinson was sleeping on a pool table. The penknife was found in his possession, they said. Both Farr and Robinson are negroes.

COUNTYANS MAY LOSE POSITIONS

A number of Adams county Democrats employed in the office of state treasurer and auditor general are somewhat concerned about their future employment as Republicans prepared to take over those two offices today and Tuesday.

Several countyans said that there may be a reshuffling of jobs in the two departments and that Democrats may be ousted to make room for Republican party workers.

Harrisburg, May 2 (AP)—The Republicans take over control of the office of state treasurer today for the first time in 12 years.

Charles R. Barber, of Erie, state welfare secretary, will be sworn into the office in a formal ceremony in the state House of Representatives at 12 noon.

Barber succeeds Ramsey S. Black, a Democrat, who has held the office since 1945. Black's departure will end a 12-year Democratic regime in the office of state treasurer which began in 1937 with the inauguration of Charles A. Waters.

Barber, a former mayor of Erie, defeated Sen. William Lane, of Washington county, the Democratic candidate, in the November elections last year.

Tomorrow, Weldon B. Heyburn, of Concordville, Delaware county, takes over the office of auditor general, closing out the last Democratic-held office in the state government.

Heyburn, a former state senator, succeeds Auditor General G. Harold Wagner.

REVEALS JAIL BREAK ATTEMPT

Raymond Crouse, Gettysburg R. 1, sentenced to four to eight years in the Eastern penitentiary by the county court had county officials somewhat disturbed during his confinement in the county jail here.

About a week ago, Sheriff Dorsey J. Schultz revealed, Crouse secured a steel slab from an old bunk in the jail and dug out the mortar around a tile block in his cell with the idea of removing the block in an attempt to escape.

Crouse had dug out about three inches of mortar from around the block when he was discovered and moved to another cell. The sheriff pointed out that Crouse would have been disappointed if he had gotten the tile removed—because behind all of the tile in the cells are concrete blocks and steel bars.

The sheriff also handcuffed Crouse for the trip from the jail to the court house Saturday morning after learning Crouse planned "to make a break for it" while en route in the sheriff's car from the jail to the court room.

Milling Company Is Awarded $1,592

The April jury completed its work Saturday afternoon at 2:40 o'clock after a full week's session. The jury hearing the last case found in favor of the plaintiff in the action of the Bedford, Pa., Milling company versus Luther D. Cluck, Menallen township, an action in assumpsit.

The jury awarded the milling company $1,592.22 plus $127.41 interest. The company had claimed Cluck owed it over $2,600 for feed which it claims it delivered to the Cluck farm and for which it states it was not paid. Cluck claimed he paid the company for all feed delivered to him and denied that the feed in question had been delivered to his farm.

159 STUDENTS WILL TAKE 8TH GRADE EXAMS

One hundred and fifty-nine youngsters will undergo eighth grade examinations for high school entrance Friday, May 20, at five centers in the county, County School Superintendent J. Floyd Slaybaugh announced today.

The test will begin at 8:30 a. m. at each of the centers: Franklin township consolidated school; Coneywago township's Sand Hill school; Fairfield; York Springs and East Berlin where 20 Paradise township, York county, students will be given the test.

Superintendent Slaybaugh will be in charge of the 36 Franklin township students undergoing the test; Assistant County Superintendent C. T. Raffensperger will be in charge of the 26 students taking the test at Sand Hill. Forty youngsters will be tested at Fairfield with Walter Lohman in charge of the examination. Miss Margaret M. Brandt will conduct the examination for the 37 students at York Springs and Richard C. Lightner will be in charge at East Berlin.

Test For 6th Graders

Due to the establishment of the joint school systems with junior high schools in the county the number taking the test this year is one of the lowest in years. All of the sixth grade students who will be going to junior high schools in the various joint set-ups having such schools will be examined by the supervising principals of the joint systems at various times this month.

At one time the number of students taking the eighth grade examination more than doubled the number taking the test this year. Last year the county office conducted the test for both the sixth grade and eighth grade students and this year only the eighth grade youngsters are being tested by the county office.

E. H. MATTHIAS, FARMER, DIES

Edward H. Matthias, 60, well known Union township farmer, died unexpectedly at his home, Littlestown R. 2, Sunday evening at 10:40 o'clock following an illness of several days.

He was a son of the late E. Charles and Laura (Myers) Matthias and was a member of St. Mary's Lutheran church, Silver Run, Md.

Surviving are his widow, the former Bessie Bollinger; eight children: Mrs. Ralph Barnes, Hanover R. D.; Mrs. William Perkins, Baltimore; Mrs. John Connelly, Rosemont; Mrs. Anna Wampler, at home; Miss Albert Roselli, Wayne, Pa.; Miss Charlotte Matthias, a nurse at the Bryn Mawr hospital, Luther E. and Jean, at home; five grandchildren; three brothers, Frank and Oliver, both of Littlestown R. D., and Robert, Graceland, Md.; two sisters, Mrs. Walter Shoemaker, Littlestown, and Mrs. Edna Geiselman, Littlestown R. D.

Funeral services Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Little funeral home, Littlestown, conducted by the Rev. Dr. F. R. Seibel, interment in St. Mary's Union cemetery, Silver Run. Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Laboratory Work To Be Told Growers

The work being done at the South Mountain Research Laboratories to help solve the problems confronting the fruit grower will be discussed Thursday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Fruit Growers association. The session will be held in the Biglerville auditorium starting at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Fred Lewis, plant pathologist, Dean Asquith, entomologist and Frank Hewetson, pomologist at the laboratories will give details on the work they perform. The schedule for the meeting also calls for a discussion of orchard disease and insect conditions led by R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist and J. O. Pepper, extension entomologist.

WORK ON BRIDGE PLACES DETOUR ON HANOVER RD.

Traffic on the Gettysburg-Hanover road between here and Bonneville will be detoured for the next few weeks to permit the placing of a concrete surface on the bridge over Rock creek just east of the borough.

The detour signs were placed at noon today with traffic shunted to the Lincoln highway to Granite and from there to Bonneville. West-bound traffic on the Hanover road also is sent via Granite.

Work on the renovation of the Rock creek bridge began this morning with the Dillsburg Construction company employees starting the removal of wooden guardrails at the bridge.

Charles H. Gabler, Shippensburg, in charge of the work for the Dillsburg company, said he could not determine just how long the work would take but pointed out that the contract let to the Dillsburg concern provides that it must finish work on the Hanover street bridge and south of here over Rock creek within 55 days.

Steel plates which will be fastened to the top and bottom of the present steel girders in the 84-foot span arrived this morning. The steel plates will give the bridge added strength, Gabler said. Eight and a half inches of concrete will then be poured on top of the steel plate reinforced bridge structure, making the roadbed. The present wooden guard rails will be replaced by steel guard rails and the final structure will be 24 feet wide instead of the present 22 feet in width.

WEATHER CUTS 'FIELD TRAVEL

Poor weather over the week-end cut down the number of visitors to the Battlefield, the records of Vernon F. Lunt, National Cemetery superintendent, disclose.

The total estimated visitation, approximately 4,100 persons, was 1,400 under the estimated 5,557 visitors for the previous week-end.

Tourist traffic not only dipped Saturday and Sunday, but the number of visitors, judging by bus tours, apparently declined during the week. For the previous week, Monday through Sunday, 65 buses visited the field. During the past week, Monday through Sunday the total was 61 buses and nearly 1,800 people saw the field on the conducted bus tours.

Saturday there were 56 guided auto trips over the field, with 198 persons in the cars, and in addition there were six guided bus trips, with 216 people aboard. Sunday there were 56 guided car trips, with 207 persons in the cars and eight guided bus trips with 275 passengers.

Bus trips during the week included eight on Monday, ten on Tuesday, eight on Wednesday, ten on Thursday, seven on Friday, six on Saturday and eight on Sunday. In addition there were five bus trips conducted by local national park officials over the field.

START ROAD WORK

State highway department workmen this week will begin placing a surface coating on a two-mile stretch of road between the Oliver Way-bright farm and the Taneytown road, passing the Masonic camp site. The base course was placed last year and now the blacktop surface will be applied.

ELUDES POLICE

Borough police Saturday received a report that a man was showing a gun at the Greyhound post house. They traced him to Franklin street, but lost the trail. Police said they believed the man left town in the direction of Fairfield.

NOMINATED BY TRUMAN

Among postmasterhip nominations sent to the Senate by President Truman for confirmation was that of Roy K. Hartman, Dillsburg.

Cooking School Tonight

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock tonight Mrs. Margaret Coverly-Smith will open the first session of The Gettysburg Times' 1949 cooking school in the Hotel Gettysburg annex.

Doors will open promptly at 6:30 o'clock. Children under 16 years of age will not be admitted. The first cooking demonstration will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Twenty-three merchants and manufacturers are participating. Fifteen baskets of food, each valued at $13, will be given away this evening as well as eight dishes of food prepared by Mrs. Coverly-Smith.

The annex has been attractively decorated for the three-night occasion which continues Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Special lighting has been installed and seats are so arranged as to afford a full view of the large demonstration stage for all those attending. There is no admission. Everything is free.

Former Associate Judge Marks His 84th Birthday On Tuesday

One of Adams county's oldest merchants will celebrate his 84th birthday Tuesday.

Charles W. Johnson, McKnightstown, who has conducted a general store there for sixty-two years, was born May 3, 1865 in Highland township, the eighth of ten children of the late Benjamin and Rebecca Johnson.

The anniversary will be observed at a birthday dinner at the home of his son, Jay D. Johnson, with old friends.

During the years he has accumulated several records. Besides being a merchant for 62 years, he also was assistant postmaster for approximately a half century and is the oldest in point of service of the directors of The Gettysburg National bank, having served in that capacity for 36 years.

Quiet and Reserved

He is quiet, reserved, unassuming and unostentatious. When he worked on a farm before starting the store he was fairly heavy, he recalls, but for better than a half century his thin figure has been a familiar sight in many activities.

Mr. Johnson is also well known as a cook, his favorite culinary effort being fried chicken. He has often laughingly boasted that he can "fry chicken better than any woman."

At one time he operated, in addition to his store, several farms and two orchards, but he disposed of the farms some time ago because of the additional work they involved.

Now he confines his activities to his store, to his regular visits to Gettysburg each Tuesday for the bank directors' meeting, the activities of Flohr's Lutheran church, and the activities of the Gettysburg Elks club of which he is one of the oldest members in number of years of membership.

In 1927, a political unknown, he emerged as high man among four candidates for the post of associate judge. It was the only county office for which he ever aspired.

Born when the last guns of the Civil War were still, he attended grammar school in the county and then farmed for his father before starting in farming for himself at Seven Stars.

After farming for seven years he went to work for C. T. Lower, and later bought out Lower and took over the management of the store 62 years ago.

Fifty-two years ago he married Miss Annabelle Deardorff of Seven Stars. They have one son, Jay Johnson, 104 Baltimore street.

BOY DISCOVERS FIRE IN LUMBER

The alertness of an eight-year-old youngster prevented "the worst fire Gettysburg ever had from occurring Saturday afternoon," Fire Chief James A. Aumen said today.

Aumen said that Bobby Zhea, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. William Zhea, noticed smoke curling up from a pile of lumber at the furniture factory when he looked out of his North Stratton street home and told his parents. They immediately called the fire company which responded quickly to put out a fire in a lumber pile on Water street extended between Fourth and Stratton streets.

The firemen worked over an hour in putting out the blaze, having to tear the entire pile of dried wood apart in order to extinguish all of the flames. With the flames roaring through the natural "flues" in the cross-packed lumber firemen feared for a time that the conflagration would extend to other piles of lumber stored along the entire furniture factory lot which extends from Fourth street to near Stratton street. Well over a million board feet of dried lumber is contained in the piles and Aumen said the fire "could have been the worst in our history."

Aumen blamed "some youngsters" who have been chased out of the yard a number of times "as probable causes of the blaze. An investigation is being made. Damage to the lumber pile was estimated at $200.

All-England Badminton Winners To Play Here Wednesday Night

Clinton P. Stephens and his wife, Patricia Ann Stephens, of Baltimore, winners of the All-England mixed doubles badminton championship and 1948 winners of the U. S. championship, will come to Gettysburg Wednesday at 8 p. m. and give an exhibition of the feathered shuttlecock game in the high school gymnasium.

With them will be Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Stieber, also of Baltimore, who have also won many laurels in badminton matches, and Frank Roberts, holder of many Maryland state's men's badminton championships.

Among the many badminton laurels won by the Stephens include the Maryland state junior and senior titles, all events; New Jersey state championships in all events; Ohio state titles in singles and mixed doubles; Strathgown invitation in all events; New England singles and mixed doubles; Buffalo invitation in all events; Genesee Valley invitation; Niagara invitation; Baltimore invitation, and many others.

TO ESTABLISH CANCER CLINIC IN SIX WEEKS

Establishment of a cancer clinic at the Warner hospital should be completed within six weeks, it was announced today in connection with the extension of the current drive for funds by the Adams county unit of the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, of the hospital staff, made the announcement concerning the cancer clinic, a project for which the county unit of the cancer society will provide funds. One half of the money raised in the drive will remain in the county and will go toward the cancer clinic here and the other half will go to the national organization for research in combating cancer.

$1,300 Donated

Mrs. Joseph E. Codori, chairman of the current fund raising campaign of the county society, said she has received $1,300 of the quota of $2,500 sought in the county up to this morning. That amount does not include the money raised by the Lions minstrel at the South Mountain Memorial auditorium near Artstsville Friday night. Nor does it include the money placed in the cancer coin containers located in stores and business establishments throughout the county.

The coin containers will be collected during the coming week, Mrs. Codori announced. At the same time she urged organizations and individuals who wish to make contributions to mail or send them to local chairmen or to Mrs. Codori at 44 York street, Gettysburg.

The tremendous need for funds for cancer research and for care were stressed by Mrs. Codori, who pointed out that only through research will it be possible to eventually conquer the dread disease which disables and kills thousands of people each year.

Mrs. Codori and John A. Hauser, president of the county unit of the cancer society, joined in expressing their thanks to all those who have contributed so far in the campaign.

LITTLESTOWN CLUB MEMBERS ATTEND ANNUAL CHURCH SERVICE

Approximately 40 members of the Woman's Community club of Littlestown and vicinity and their daughters attended services in the Centenary Methodist church on Sunday morning, the beginning of an annual event for the club on a Sunday near Mother's Day. Guest soloist was Mrs. Edwin Elder, Jr., who sang, "Little Mother of Mine." She was accompanied by Miss Betty Reir-Jollar. The pastor, the Rev. Grantas E. Hoopert used as his theme, "The Centrepiece of God's Law," which sermon was an introduction to National Family Week.

There were three altar vases of flowers; one vase was presented by Mrs. Grantas E. Hoopert in honor of her mother, Mrs. James Decker; two vases were presented by Mrs. Jesse Byers. Arrangements for this service were in charge of the legislation and citizenship committee of the club which consists of Miss Rose V. Barker, Mrs. Donald B. Coover, Mrs. Lesbia Crouse, Mrs. Jean Leckliter, Mrs. Ralph A. White and Mrs. Edgar Orndorff.

Miss Betty Myers, Miss Thelma Knight, Arthur Burr and the Rev. Mr. Hoopert represented Centenary Methodist church at an all-day rally of the Harrisburg district Methodist Youth Fellowship in the First Methodist church, Hanover, on Saturday. The program concluded with a banquet on Saturday evening which was attended by the four members of the Littlestown group.

Guest night will be observed at the next meeting of the Woman's Committee. (Please Turn to Page 2)

Presbyterian Church Re-dedicated Sunday

The recently re-decorated Presbyterian church which has been used as a house of worship for more than a century was re-dedicated in a special service during the regular morning worship on Sunday. The dedication ceremony was conducted by the pastor the Rev. Clyde R. Brown.

In his brief remarks, the young minister once again "set apart this ancient house of God from profane and common uses" and re-dedicated it to "the service and worship of God."

As a part of the service Herbert G. Hamme, a member of the church Session, made a token presentation of a new hymn book to the pastor who also dedicated the new hymnals which have been given by an unannounced member of the congregation.

New Oxford High Band Is State Winner

New Oxford high school's band won the state Class C championship for the seventh time since 1936 in the state contest held Saturday at Pottstown.

Competing against New Oxford, Southern district titlists, were the following district champions: Robesonia, Eastern; Knox, Western; McClure, Central; Findlay Township, Southeastern; Edinboro, Northwestern; and Lehman, Northeastern.

The New Oxford outfit was given a superior rating while Robesonia and McClure were given excellent ratings.

Previous state championships were won by New Oxford in 1936, 1937, 1939, 1940, 1942, and 1948.

Paul Harner, Hanover, is director of the band which is composed of 72 pieces.

FAMILY OF SIX IS GIVEN AID BY RED CROSS

A father and mother and four children, two of the latter with severe head colds and all six wet from walking in the rain, were picked up by a motorist Sunday on the Taneytown road, brought to Gettysburg, and later fed by the Red Cross and provided with bus tickets for Chambersburg, where they were advised to go to the Salvation Army there.

Borough police said William Woods, about 30, and his family, had left their former home at Richland, Va., several days ago and started on a hitch-hiking trip, the father ostensibly looking for work. They had lived in a shack in the mountains in Virginia, Woods told authorities here.

They spent Saturday night at Frederick, Md. where state police found them food and lodging. Mrs. James Fissel Greenmount, saw them walking along the Taneytown road Sunday and brought them to police headquarters in her automobile.

Only Crusts To Eat

Borough police contacted the Red Cross, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pennington, executive secretary, provided them with food. They said they had nothing to eat Sunday but crusts of bread, authorities reported.

The Red Cross was unable to contact anyone in Gettysburg connected with the Salvation Army service unit with authority to provide aid, and was unable to secure a night lodging for the family, Mrs. Pennington said.

The Woods children ranged from six months to six years in age.

Mrs. Robert P. Snyder, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said today that she was not secretary of the Salvation Army unit, and others reported as members of the unit said they had no funds or authority to act in cases like the Woods case.

LOCAL MAN HELD ON 3 CHARGES

The troubles that Roy Eckert, 43, of 15 South Fifth street, got into Saturday landed him in the Adams county jail on three charges.

Borough police arrested Eckert at 5:15 p. m. on a disorderly conduct charge, on Chambersburg street.

Carrie Hippensteel, York street, filed a charge of surety of the peace against Eckert, on behalf of her mother, Mrs. Annie Rose, proprietor of the Busy Bee restaurant, North Washington street.

Cretona Guise, Breckenridge street, charged Eckert with disorderly conduct. The complainant is an employee at the Busy Bee.

Eckert was committed to jail in default of bail which was fixed at $100 each on the disorderly conduct charges and $1,000 on the surety of the peace charge. He was scheduled for a hearing before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore this afternoon.

FACES SCHOOL CHARGE

Lester Miller, Sr., Gettysburg R. 3, arrested Saturday by Constable Leo Riley on a school law violation charge filed by Franklin township officials, was released by Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore for a hearing Wednesday afternoon. He is charged with permitting a son to be absent from school.

FORFEITS $15.50

Joe Woodson, 49, of Aspers, arrested at 7:15 p. m. Saturday night by borough police on West Railroad street on a disorderly conduct charge, forfeited $15.50 in fine and costs he furnished Sunday, when he failed to appear for a hearing before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore today.

FOUR INJURED IN 2 CRASHES OVER WEEK-END

Four persons were injured in two accidents investigated by state police of the Gettysburg substation Sunday, and a fifth was injured Saturday, police reported today.

A car driven by Jackson Linde, Will, 54, of Arlington, Va., crashed into the rear of an automobile operated by Treva Viola Cullison, 48, of Harrisburg, on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg highway in front of the Adams county home at 1:50 p. m. Sunday.

Police said both cars were traveling south and the Cullison car had slowed down to make a turn into the county home driveway. The Will car drove the Cullison car onto the lawn of the home.

Will suffered a bruised chest and possible rib fracture. His wife, Mrs. Betty Will, 51, suffered a bruised left leg, and Sarah Weaver, 63, of Harrisburg, a passenger in the Cullison car, a head injury. They were treated at the Warner hospital.

Driver Is Fined

Will was arrested by state police on a charge of driving too fast for road conditions, and was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. Damage to the Will car was estimated at $300, and to the Cullison car at $200.

Another rear end collision occurred at 12:15 p. m. Sunday four miles east of Littlestown on the Hanover road, when a car driven by Frank E. Arentz, 19, of Hanover R. 1, ran into the rear of the car operated by Jackson S. Scott, 31, of Baltimore street, Littlestown, police said.

Scott stopped his car when a car ahead of him stopped in a line of traffic, police said, and Arentz ran into the rear of the Scott car. Mrs. Melinda Arentz, 57, suffered a scalp laceration, and was treated at the Hanover hospital. Damage to each car was estimated at $100.

Driver Is Injured

R. Clifton Robb, 31, of Harrisburg, suffered lacerations of the nose and cuts and bruises of the left knee at 6:10 p. m. Saturday when his car left the road and crashed into a trellis and a tree at the home of Elmer L. Strayer, Clear Springs, on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road, state police said.

Police said Robb was traveling north and a car ahead of him intended to make a left turn. The driver saw Robb's car in the rear view mirror, delaying making the turn, and Robb attempted to pass on the left. Damage to his car was estimated at $300. Damage to the trellis was placed at $30.

GHS OUTHITS WESTMINSTER FOR 12-6 WIN

Pounding over seven runs in the third inning, the Gettysburg high school baseball team gained its third victory in as many starts here Saturday afternoon by outslugging Westminster high 12-6.

Charley Kitzmiller hurled the first three frames for the Warriors and Coach Howard Shoemaker took him out with his team in the lead 10-1 in order to have him ready for the South Penn league game with Hanover on the latter's field Tuesday. Cornwell finished the contest.

A walk to Bushman, single by Signor, infield hits on bunts by Kump and Bucher, a fielder's choice and error produced a trio of runs for Gettysburg in the opening inning.

A triple by Ronnie Kump with two runners aboard featured the seven-run uprising in the third frame. During the inning the Warriors secured but two hits but made good use of five bases on balls and an error.

Lee, Westminster catcher who had a perfect day at bat, poled a long homerun to left center in the sixth and in the seventh tripled to the same section with the bases loaded, being nipped at the plate when he attempted to record his second homerun.

GHS In Track Meet Here On Tuesday

Gettysburg high school will resume its track schedule Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Harrisburg Catholic will be met here in a dual meet.

The Warriors were idle last week due primarily to the senior class trip to Washington, D. C.

Coaches George Forney and Fred Haehnel have high hopes for a victory Tuesday. In the Shippensburg State Teachers' college meet the Warriors finished second while Harrisburg Catholic was fifth.

On Saturday the Warriors will defend their South Penn meet title when the annual affair is held at Carlisle.

They're not laughing any more. The rival National league clubs simply fail to see anything funny about a team that just got through knocking off the Brooklyn Dodgers three times in as many days in their own backyard. Let's forget the Dodgers were generally rated as the club to beat for the flag.

Yesterday's 4-2 victory over the Dodgers boosted the Phils out of the league cellar, 12 percentage points above the Chicago Cubs. They now have a won-lost record of 6-8, are only half a game out of the first division and three games behind the front-running Boston Braves. With an 11-game home stand facing them starting tomorrow, the Phils are in a position to make Phillies Manager Eddie Sawyer look good.

The Braves moved into undisputed first place in the National, winning both ends of a double header from the New York Giants, 6-5, and 4-2, before 33,402 home town rooters. Sissy Sisti's ninth inning pinch single with the bases loaded drove in the tying and winning runs. The Giants had broken a 4-4 tie in the top of the ninth on Bobby Thomson's home run.

Jonny Antonelli, Boston's high-priced 19-year-old bonus southpaw, won his first big league game in his first major league start in the nightcap. He allowed six hits, walked nine and was rescued by Nelson Potter when he walked the first three men to face him in the ninth. Potter got Sid Gordon to line into a double play to end the game.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen and Stan Musial teamed up to give the St. Louis Cardinals an 8-3 triumph over the Cubs. Brecheen spread out 13 hits for his second victory. Musial led the hitting attack on five Cub hurlers with three hits and two walks in five times at bat. He drove in two runs.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati divided a double header, the Pirates winning the opener, 10-4, and the Reds taking the second game, 5-2. Danny Murtaugh helped Bob Ciesnes gain his first victory of the season in the opener, rapping out three hits and driving in four runs. Bud Lively pitched a six-hitter and Danny Litwhiler cracked out three hits for the Reds in the nightcap.

The Boston Red Sox, after two straight beatings by the New York Yankees, finally came to life, blasting Allie Reynolds and Frank Shea for 14 hits and an 11-2 triumph. Johnny Pesky, Vern Stephens and Ted Williams walloped home runs for the winners.

Bob Lemon pitched a two-hitter for Cleveland, but bowed to Detroit's Hal Newhouse, 3-2, on Dick Wakefield's three-run homer in the first inning.

The Philadelphia Athletics smashed out two more victories over the hapless Washington Senators, 15-9 and 7-3, with the second game halted after seven innings because of the Pennsylvania curfew law.

Outfielder Elmer Valo paced the first game attack with a pair of triples, each coming with the bases loaded. Hank Majeski and Mike Guerra homered in the second game to give Alex Kellner his first major league victory.

The Chicago White Sox whipped the Browns twice in St. Louis, 7-6 and 14-11, to make it seven in a row over the Browns this season. In all, the Sox have won eight games, the other coming against the Tigers.

OPENING DELAYED
Because of wet grounds, the opening game of the Penn-Maryland Baseball league at home, when Littlestown and Taneytown were to clash on Sunday afternoon, could not be played. The opening ceremony scheduled to precede this game was also postponed. An alternate date will be announced later this week.

The postponed baseball game between Littlestown and Westminster high schools will be held on Wednesday afternoon at Littlestown, instead of Tuesday as was announced previously.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Borough Election: On Tuesday the Borough election took place, and resulted in the choice of the following gentlemen, who were on the Whig ticket, by a majority of about 50.

Burgess—William King.
Council — Wm. Wysotzky, John Gilbert, Peter Stallsmith, David Heagy, George Little.

Street and Road Commissioners—Benjamin Lefever, Quintin Armstrongs.

School Directors—F. E. Vander-sloot, John A. Swope.
On Saturday evening the new Council will be organized.

Fire: We regret to state that the dwelling house of Col. Baltzer Snyder, in Heidlersburg, was entirely consumed by fire on Wednesday night, with the greater part of the furniture. The fire originated in the kitchen, some brands from a fire which had that day been made upon the hearth communicating with the folding doors which were used for closing up the chimney.

Married: On Tuesday the 1st inst., by the Rev. E. V. Gerhart, Mr. John E. Boyer, of Menallen township, to Miss Ann Justina Sentz, of Mount-pleasant township.

On the 22d ult., by the Rev. J. Ulrich, Mr. Jacob N. Sheets, to Miss Susanna E. Stary, all of this county.
In Frederick City, Md., on the 26th ult., by the Rev. S. W. Harkey, Mr. Eli Mickle, formerly of Gettysburg, Pa., to Miss Elizabeth C. Scholl, of Frederick.

Blue Dicks: There will be a stated meeting of the company, at the Enginehouse, on Saturday the 12th inst., at 6½ o'clock, P. M.
C. Horner, Sec'y.

Mr. H. J. Miller has connected himself with Mr. Bart in the publication of the "Weekly Visitor" in Littlestown.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Some of our young folks, with musical propensities, have re-organized the Gettysburg Cornet Band, under the leadership of Mr. Henry J. Frey.

Rev. Dr. Kieffer was installed as Pastor of the Reformed church in this place on Wednesday, Rev. Dr. Ziegler, of Hanover, Rev. Jacob Sechler, of Hanover, and Rev. John Ault, of Littlestown, participated in the installation ceremonies. Dr. Kieffer is making a very favorable impression in the congregation.

Married: Curran-Rudisill—On the 30th ult., by Rev. M. Snyder, Mr. Wm. J. Curran, of Lancaster county, to Miss Kate Rudisill, of this county.

Smith-Moritz—On the 28th ult., by Rev. H. F. Long, Mr. William L. Smith to Miss Alice C. Moritz, both of Franklin township.

Wanted Immediately: An Apprentice to the Shoemaking business. Apply to Peter Steinhour, Middletown, Adams county, Pa.

Corporal Skelly Post G. A. R. is making the arrangements for the proper observance of Decoration Day in Gettysburg. Mr. F. G. Weaver, of the Theological Seminary, has been chosen Orator of the day. The Post has also initiated measures, by the appointment of committees, to secure and preserve a record of all the Soldiers who entered the service from Adams county, and who died in the battle, or from wounds received or disease contracted in the late war to suppress the Rebellion.

Another public temperance meeting was held in St. James church on Friday night, Mr. Moser presiding. The President of the Ladies' Temperance Association presented, through Mr. Moser, the reply of the Town Council to their request for the passage of an ordinance requiring the closing of taverns and saloons at an early hour of the night. The Council, in a courteous reply, express a readiness to all they legally can to suppress intem-

THE SUCCESS OF ANOTHER
There is a co-operative cult in this world that is an inspiration—a cult that is always happy to give praise where praise is due. I can see no reason why anyone should be jealous of the success of another. It should be an example for each one of us. e should be uplifted by the success of another.

I like the way most professional writers give praise to their contemporaries. I recently read the comment of a very fine writer, speaking of another. He said that he writes "just a little better than anybody that's around." A generous tribute.

Many years ago there was a notable divorce of a great actor and actress for no apparent reason than that one got a bigger electrical display before the theatre. The name of one was bigger than the other! How foolish such jealousy!

There is always glory enough for each of us where it is deserved. The success of another should always be commended. Some twenty or so years ago I saw that wonderfully inspiring play "Abraham Lincoln," by John Drinkwater. I shall never forget those lines that the two Chroniclers recited together, as follows:

"When the high heart we magnify
And the sure vision celebrate,
And worship greatness passing by,
Ourselves are great."

We ourselves expand, give emphasis to character, and are glorified every time we admire and extol the work or achievement of another. I prize the thirteen-volume set of the writings of Leonard Merrick—a fine English writer—in which each volume has an introduction by a prominent author, contemporary with Merrick, gladly paying tribute to his talents and genius.
In a large sense the others is embodied in the success of ourselves. We see what others have done and are inspired to be successful, too. It is a trait of bigness to give praise and to be glad of the success of another.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Contentment"

TYRANNY
The tyrant says to all: "Obey!
Who dares to teach a better way
Or would my least command defy,
Before the morning sun shall die!"

By force and fear the tyrant rules;
At doors of churches and of schools
Sets brutal guards lest growing youth
Be led to God and search for truth.

How strange that man can dare with might
The lives of those he rules to blight,
And do with such a fearful plan
What God refused to do to man!

The Great Creator left man free
To find and shape his destiny,
And in His boundless love declined
To shackle either heart or mind.

After a general conference of views, in which Prof. Bauhauser, Rev. Mr. Jamieson, Rev. Mr. Campbell and D. A. Buehler participated, the meeting adjourned.

Prof. West's Entertainments: In consequence of the storm Monday night (May 4), the attendance on Prof. West's first Art Entertainment in Agriculture Hall was not large, but we feel assured that those who were present were amply repaid for turning out. By the aid of a large stereoscopic and a brilliant calcium light, landscape views, embracing noted scenes in Europe, castles, palaces, also monuments, churches, statuary, etc., are thrown on the canvas with remarkable distinctness and boldness of relief. The statuary have all the effects to the eye of the genuine marble.
We advise our friends to go and enjoy these entertainments. Tuesday night the illustrations have special reference to Italy; Wednesday night, London; Thursday night, Rome; Friday night, Paris; Saturday night, Ireland; with a children's Matinee Wednesday afternoon.

The storm of last week extended over a large section of the country, snow being reported from various sections, north and south. As for south as Alabama and Georgia there were heavy frosts on Friday morning (May 1) damaging the corn and cotton crops.

EDITOR DIES

Tarentum, Pa., May 2 (AP)—Ray R. Stuart, 51, city and associate editor of the Valley Daily News, died yesterday of a heart attack. The veteran newspaperman succumbed at his Brackenridge home a few minutes after he was stricken. His death followed by less than two months the death of Charles P. Howe, publisher of the News.

Episcopalians Will Elect New Bishop

Philadelphia, May 2 (AP)—Delegates of the 165th annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, opening today in Holy Trinity church, will nominate candidates for election of a second suffragan bishop.

The Rt. Rev. Oliver J. Hart, bishop of the diocese, asked for a second suffragan bishop to help in the expanding missionary work. The Rt. Rev. William P. Remington has assisted Bishop Hart as suffragan bishop since 1945.

A committee on nominations has submitted five names to the diocese, but further nominations may be made from the floor at the opening of the two-day convention or on the morning of the election, May 11, at Holy Trinity church.
Placed in nomination by the committee are the Revs. Joseph G. Armstrong, 3rd, rector of St. Mary's church, Ardmore, Pa.; Nelson M. Burroughs, rector of Christ church, Cincinnati, Ohio; Thomas H. Chap-pell, dean of St. Stephen's Cathedral, Harrisburg, Pa.; Charles H. Long, secretary of the diocese of Pennsylvania, and Charles S. Martin, rector of St. Paul's church, Burlington, Vt.

MANY PRINCES DISLIKE NEW INDIA SETUP

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

India is happy over the historic agreement which permits her to become a republic and still remain a member of the British commonwealth of nations—without acknowledging the sovereignty of the king-emperor.

That is, the articulate portions of India's three hundred millions as a whole are pleased. However, there are a few elements which are bound to be regretful. Outstanding among them are the hundreds of princes who have lost their thrones since India was granted independence nearly two years ago, and now see the severing of the last tie with the imperial "glories" of the past.

Since India gained her freedom the native principalities and their rulers have come under control of the New Delhi government. Even the Nizam of Hyderabad, reputed to be the richest man and sovereign of the greatest state in India, has had to bow to the new era. The fate of the big state of Kashmir alone remains unsettled pending a plebiscite among the people to see whether they prefer to join Hindu India or the neighboring Moslem dominion of Pakistan.

Difference in Prices
It is well that these princes should go, for they are anachronisms which have no place in this atomic age of ours. Still one can understand the feelings of potentates, some of whom were links in bejeweled dynasties reaching back many hundreds of years.

The story of the princes forms one of the striking pages of history. The pomp and splendor surrounding them had to be seen to be believed. Many of the rulers had the power of life and death over their subjects. They paid homage to only one person—the king-emperor.
"Let me put it this way," said his highness. "The princes are five shillings in the pound for the government and fifteen shillings in the pound for his majesty." (You get the point when you figure that there are 20 shillings in an English pound sterling).
And don't let anybody tell you that the British government didn't cultivate this reverence for the crown among the princes. This respect for royalty helped the government mightily in handling the frequently temperamental rules.

Sends Statement To Pennsy Stockholders

Philadelphia, May 2 (AP)—Martin W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, said railroad rates "are still out of line as compared with charges for other products and services."
"Your railroad and other railroads," Clement said yesterday in a statement to Pennsylvania's stockholders, "have been continuously urging a further freight rate increase before the regulatory bodies. It is hoped that favorable action will shortly be taken on these requests which have been before these bodies since October of last year."

Clement's statement was sent to the railroad's stockholders along with a 75-cent-per share dividend payable yesterday to shareholders of record April 2.

Two dividends were paid last year, totalling $1 per common share.

School Bus Measure On Governor's Desk

Harrisburg, May 2 (AP)—A measure setting up new safety regulations for school buses reached Gov. James H. Duff's desk today.

The bill, which requires automobiles to halt while school buses are unloading, was passed Saturday by the General Assembly as one of its final acts.

It would establish off-highway loading zones, strict marking rules for school buses, and require special driving and physical examinations

MORE LOYALTY MARCHERS THAN LEFT-WINGERS

(By The Associated Press)

May Day, 1949—60th anniversary of a day proclaimed to demonstrate unity among the world's workers—showed instead the split between the Communist and non-Communist world.

The Soviet Union, which has adopted the international observance as its great national holiday, yesterday put on a display of military might in Moscow's Red Square.

All Communist-dominated lands flexed their muscles in similar, but smaller, demonstrations. They were cheered by claims from their Communist brethren in China of vast new victories in the Shanghai-Nanking-Hangchow area.

Parades And Rallies
Parades and mass rallies filled the streets of Warsaw, Prague, Bucharest, Budapest and Sofia—capitals of the satellite countries. Speakers pledged support for Russia and denounced "national deviationists" for drivers.

The measure also would require all school buses except those operated by Public Utility companies, to be painted chrome yellow.

such as Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia. But Yugoslavia hit back. At May Day celebrations in Belgrade that country's Communist party attacked not only western "imperialists," but the "monstrous, slanderous attacks" by the eastern Communist bloc.

Outside the iron curtain the divisions were much more obvious.

Saturday New York had rival "Loyalty Day" and left-wing parades four blocks apart. "Loyalty" marchers outnumbered the others five to one. On Sunday Vice President Alben W. Barkley told 30,000 at a Roman Catholic-sponsored rally that the American "way of life is the best ever found by the children of man."

The system of two parades was followed in many cities.

In Berlin and Rome the Communists got the crowds. Nearly 300,000 Germans marched under Red flags in the Soviet sector of the city. Western sector rallies were small and quiet.

About 70,000 jammed the Communist demonstration in Rome. Only 15,000 attended an anti-Communist labor demonstration.

The pope gave May Day blessings to the "entire world of workers." The pontiff told a large group of workers from the Naples canneries: "The Church loves the person of the workers, blesses the contract of labor, defends the just salary, blesses the family and the healthy house for the worker, possibly built upon his own piece of land, and blesses all the world of the workers."

About 150,000 Irishmen turned out in Dublin for an anti-Communist meeting protesting the imprisonment of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac of Yugoslavia.

SYNOD GUILD WILL CONVENE IN JACOBUS

The eighth annual meeting of the Nevin Regional Women's Guild of Mercersburg Synod, which includes York and Adams counties, will be held Wednesday in Salem Evangelical and Reformed church, Jacobus, the Rev. Dr. E. V. Strassbaugh, pastor. The theme of the meeting will be "Our Unfinished Task."

The morning session, which begins at 9:30 o'clock, will include the meditation by Mrs. Howard Foy, presentation of the program, Mrs. Clay Snyder; greetings from Miss Dora E. Beck; the executive board minutes, announcement of committee appointments, officers' reports, literature presentation and reading course recognition by Mrs. I. A. Raubenhold, challenges from the departmental chairmen, offering in charge of Mrs. Eugene Blum; reports of the registration, nomination and election committees and a memorial service conducted by Mrs. G. I. Spangler. Following this session a luncheon will be served.

Afternoon Session
The afternoon session, beginning at 1:30 p. m., will open with a hymn, followed by an address by Mrs. W. Carl Nugent, a missionary to Japan for many years prior to the war and again after the war, who recently returned to this country. An offering will be received for Pennsylvania migrant work, in charge of Mrs. Eugene Blum, after which the registration, place of meeting and recommendations committees will report, followed by a report on Camp Michaux, Council of Church Women. "Facing the Facts" will be presented by the synodical president, Mrs. Roy Limbert. The meeting will close with a hymn and the benediction pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Strassbaugh. Officers of the Guild, which has a membership of more than 2,200 women in 50 local Guilds, are: President, Mrs. Nevin E. Smith, Hanover; vice president, Mrs. Clay Snyder, York; secretary, Mrs. William Banks, Hanover, and treasurer, Mrs. George I. Spangler, York. Chairmen of the departments are: Spiritual life, Mrs. Oliver Ma... Red Lion; membership, Mrs. Harriet Bonebrake, York; stewardship, Mrs. Nevin Frantz, Arendtsville; Christian citizenship, Mrs. Paul Yoder, Codorus; education, Mrs. Irvin A. Raubenhold, York; thank offering, Mrs. W. J. Newbould, Thomasville; missionary, Mrs. A. C. Rohrbach, New Oxford; social service, Mrs. Aden Eyster, York New Salem; girls' guild, Mrs. Roy Snyder, Dallastown, and historian, Miss Helen Barnhart, York.

SIMPLE FACTS ABOUT CUTWORMS

"Cutworm" is a common name applied to the larva (or grubs) of 12 to 14 kinds or species of small, inconspicuous moths. They belong to a family of insects known scientifically as Noctuidae, so called because almost all of them are nocturnal or night-active insects. It is necessary for gardeners and farmers to understand a few primary facts about this pest's habits in order to know how to prevent it from destroying large numbers of early food and ornamental plants.

The cutworm lives over winter in the larval or grub stage. It becomes active quite early in the spring, feeding on various grasses and weeds. But when garden or truck patches are plowed, the worms (caterpillars) cannot travel readily over the rough stirred soil, hence they soon become hungry for lack of green plants on which to feed. Therefore, when early tomato, cabbage, celery or other vegetable plants are set out or certain other plants appear from seeds, the hungry cutworms pounce on them greedily after their long fast. Or if plants are started soon after the caterpillars awake from their winter hibernation in the soil, the pests are likewise hungry. In either case many plants may be found cut off at the ground in the morning.

Cutworms are three-fourths to 1½ inches in length and are dull gray to brownish, with indistinct longitudinal stripes and other faint markings. They curl up beneath rubbish during the day and emerge in the evening to feed. There may be two or more generations each year, but as a rule the species which cause most trouble in their attacks on early plants belong to the single-generation group. For reasons already suggested, early plants are most severely attacked.

Control lies mainly in poisoning the first worms to appear and thereafter keeping close watch for survivors. Many gardeners take advantage of the insect's insatiable appetite to poison it in a day or two after the garden or truck field is plowed. If at that stage a poison mash is broadcast over the plowed surface, many worms will be killed. This means of combat permits harrowing or disking the uneven mash into the soil early the next morning (after late evening application) and thereby birds and poultry are protected from the bait.

If combat becomes necessary after plants are set out or growth from seed is started, the same kind of poison bait may be distributed broadcast over the infested area or a pellet placed beside each threatened plant. This, too, should be done in late afternoon or evening after the sun is set or its rays pass from the garden.

A few plants may be easily protected by placing a pliable cardboard or heavy paper wrapper around the stem at transplanting time. This should extend at least a quarter of an inch from the plant stem all around and into the soil 1 inch and above the surface 2 inches. If the collar is placed so the somewhat clumsy worm cannot reach the stem, safety will be assured.

The recommended bait is made by combining 1½ level tablespoonfuls of Paris green with 1½ pounds of dry wheat bran and mixing thoroughly. Then add from 1½ pints to 1 quart of water or enough to moisten the bran thoroughly. This bait should be prepared early in the day and allowed to stand and soak before it is applied in late afternoon or evening. If one-quarter pint or even 2 or 3 tablespoonfuls of cheap molasses is added, the bait will prove more attractive. Cutworms are attracted only by moist baits.

TIMELY HINTS IN HERB GROWING

All vegetable gardeners and many flower growers should include savory herbs among their spring plantings. Not only are herbs useful for adding flavor and zest to meat dishes, pastries, confections and other foods, but the housewife's interest is always challenged by experiments to find new roles or new combinations for them. Too, several herbs make excellent ornamentals. All in all, they merit a place in every well-rounded garden.

In a highly instructive publication, Farmers' Bulletin 177—Savory Herbs, Culture And Use, which readers may obtain without charge on request to their Congressman, useful herbs are grouped in two large lists. The first are classed as herbs for the beginner. They include Rosemary, Sage, Winter Savory, Sweet Basil, Dill, Mint, Sweet Marjoram, Tarragon, Thyme, Chive, Chervil, Parsley, and Summer Savory.

The second list includes "herbs to be added later," consisting of Anise, Caraway, Coriander, Costmary, Cummin, Fennel, Lemon Balm, Lovage, and Pot Marjoram.

Annuals, easiest, of course, to grow, include Anise, Basil, Chervil, Coriander, Cummin, Dill, Summer Savory, and Caraway. The last named is biennial in habits but usually treated as an annual. The remainder from the two lists above are perennials.

It is advisable to set aside a sunny, well drained part of the garden for herbs, particularly choosing the site for perennial sorts with the knowledge that these will occupy the site for several years. Inasmuch as several herbs, as already mentioned, possess distinct ornamental values, they may be grown in the annual or perennial border with considerable wisdom and thrift.

Seed of annual herbs should be sown in rows where they are to grow or started in individual pots or bands in a sunny coldframe. It is usually advisable to wait until the soil is warm in early May for outdoor sowing, hence starting plants under glass will gain at least a couple of weeks in time if done at once.

Most of the perennial herbs are likewise started from seed sown in sunny beds after the soil is warm or earlier under glass. Sage, lemon balm and rosemary can be propagated from stem cuttings or root divisions from old clumps. Chives, costmary, and tarragon are best started by planting crow or bulbous divisions in the fall or early spring. The mints are easy to start from divisions of their thrifty underground runners.

If several neighbors will cooperate in starting plants, much labor will be saved. For no individual needs more than a few of each kind, yet even from the smallest planting he usually propagates more plants than he needs. For example, five neighbors, each agreeing to grow plants of two kinds of herbs, will thereby together provide plants of ten kinds of herbs for all.

Just to mention a few major uses for savory herbs: Anise leaves (green) are useful in salads, the dry seeds are used to flavor cakes, cookies, and applesauce; Basil leaves, fresh or dried, are used to season all tomato dishes, many soups, salads and omelets; chervil is excellent in green salads and to add zest to egg and cheese dishes; dill leaves (fresh) or the dry seed may be wisely added to fish dishes and many pickles; sweet marjoram is a beginner's delight in meat dishes, soups, salads, and sandwich spreads; savory leaves, fresh or dried, are used in green beans, salads, stuffings, hamburger, and sauces; borage improves numerous salads and cheese dishes; and on and on.

MANY GARDEN JOBS FOR MAY

Early May is a good time to sow perennial seeds, as conditions for successful germination are favorable. Keep the seeds shaded until the shoots appear. After that, semi-shade is best for the plants.

Complete the planting of evergreens as soon as possible. If the soil is dry, soak them well to encourage good root growth.

Plant lettuce, onions, Swiss chard, parsnips, beets, parsley, early cabbage, carrots, kohlrabi, mustard, turnips, New Zealand spinach, broccoli and early cauliflower.

The cabbage maggot, which feeds on the tap roots of plants just below the soil surface, is an unwelcome visitor in the vegetable garden at this time each year. The pest is injurious to cabbage, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts and broccoli. One method of control is to place tar paper disks around each plant immediately after planting and place soil over the edges of the disks to hold them firmly in place.

Thin early vegetables before they become crowded.

Plant deciduous trees and shrubs.

There still is time to set out fruit trees and strawberry plants. Lightly mulch newly planted trees and shrubs with peat moss, grass clippings or leaves to prevent the soil from drying out.

Leave your spring-flowering bulbs undisturbed until the tops have turned yellow and died down. When cutting blooms, allow the plants to retain as much foliage as possible.

Make successive plantings of gladiolus at two-week intervals to insure a long blooming season.

Sow such annuals as marigolds, annual larkspur, California poppies and nasturtiums between rows of daffodils and tulips as fillers when and at almost wholesale prices.

It ordered the start of an investigation today. Plans are to make a top-to-bottom study of the more than half a billion dollar business of army post exchanges and navy ship stores.

Public hearings will begin in two weeks before a subcommittee headed by Rep. Philbin (D-Mass.).

3 YOUTHS GET 4-8 YEARS IN STATE PRISON

(Reprinted from Saturday's late edition of The Gettysburg Times.)

Floyd Miller, Jr., Carlisle street; Raymond Crouse, Gettysburg R. 1, and Robert D. Painter, Gettysburg R. 5, were each sentenced to from four to eight years in the Eastern penitentiary in Adams county court this morning for robberies of the Hankey and Plank garage, York street; Swope's Atlantic Service station, Carlisle street; the Hill tavern, near Littlestown, and the theft of an automobile owned by Thomas J. Collingsworth, West Middle street, March 13.

The three defendants were sentenced on the three burglary charges to 4 to 8-year sentences to run concurrently. They received sentences of 2½ to five years, also to run concurrently, for the automobile theft. In addition, the court fined the three defendants $100 and costs on each of the two charges, burglary of the Hill tavern, and the auto theft.

Had No Counsel
Miller, Crouse and Painter were brought into the courtroom handcuffed, but these were removed by direction of the court during the sentencing. None of the three was represented by legal counsel, and told the court they desired none, and had nothing to say before sentence was pronounced.

Jail Sentences
Others sentenced were:
Guy Edward Feaser, Taneytown, hit and run charge, sentence suspended on condition that defendant pay a fine of $150 and the costs.

Elmer Cregger, Emmitsburg R. D., four to eight months in jail on a burglary charge for breaking into the Reel Tire Service, Buford avenue, and pay the costs and make restitution; sentence suspended on a burglary and larceny charge for breaking into the Hunt avenue service station, ordered to make restitution.

Ralph L. Wrightstone, Lemoyne, operating a motor vehicle after his operator's license had been suspended, 15 days in jail and directed to pay a fine of $150 and costs.

Donald L. Miller, Gettysburg R. D., drunken driving, 30 days in jail, $100 fine and costs.

30-Day Sentence
Paul Miller, New Oxford R. 1, violation of liquor laws, $100 fine on each of two charges, released on payment of $175 today and directed to pay the balance by next Saturday.

Donald Kuhn, Hanover, morals charge, renewed bail for trial at the August term.

Charles E. Hinkle, York Springs R. 2, forgery of a bank check, nine to 18 months in jail, ordered to pay the costs and make restitution of $36 to Mares Sherman, Gettysburg. J. E. Kennedy, York, drunken driving, 30 days in jail, $100 fine and costs.

Sentenced For Burglary
Joseph Resse, Iron Springs, burglary, was sentenced to from 3 to 6 months and ordered to pay the costs.
Roy Daywalt, South Mountain, burglary, was given from nine to eighteen months and ordered to pay $50 for use of the county and the costs.

Paul E. Sanders, Gettysburg, fraudulent conversion, sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for one year and ordered to pay the costs and make restitution.

Nevin March, East Berlin, charged with public indecency, was sentenced to one year in jail and pay the costs. March is 79 years of age.

Driver Sentenced
Donald Murphy, York, driving after suspension, was given a suspended sentence and ordered to pay $150 for use of the county and the costs.

Francis E. Fogle, Biglerville R. 1, morals charge; was directed to pay the hospital and doctor bills in connection with the birth of his child, pay $3 a week for its support from April 18, 1945, until the child is 18, ordered to pay the costs and enter into a bond for $500 to guarantee payment.

Jerome E. Ennis, Gettysburg R. 5, drunken driving, the case was continued to August and he was ordered to renew bail.

"Events Elsewhere" Forces Occupation

Tokyo, May 2 (AP)—General MacArthur told the Japanese today that Allied forces still occupy their country mainly because of "events and circumstances elsewhere."

It is "by no means due to fault of yours," he remarked, but rather to the events elsewhere "beyond your capacity to influence or control."

The supreme commander for the Allied powers issued his message to Japan on the second anniversary of the country's new constitution. Those two years, he said, have seen the occupation change "from the stern rigidity of a military operation to the friendly guidance of a protective force."

He did not name Communism as the danger against which protection was needed. But he called on "the Japanese to guard against 'the destructive inroads of concepts incredulous of human wisdom, prejudicial to personal dignity and suppressive of individual liberty.'"

The brain of a newly born child is about one third its ultimate size.

GOP TO OFFER AMENDMENTS TO LABOR BILL

By MAX HALL
Washington, May 2 (AP)—Republican leaders said today they expect to add at least two, and possibly more, "softening" amendments to the Wood labor bill when the House labor debate is resumed tomorrow.

Meanwhile President Truman was reported as standing pat on the far-different administration bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley law and restore a modified version of the 1935 Wagner act.

There had been reports that Truman lieutenants were readying a number of concessions to win support for the administration bill, authored by Rep. Lesinski (D-Mich.).

Deny Compromise
Over the week-end AFL leaders said privately an agreement had been worked out with them, the CIO and Secretary of Labor Tobin to include national emergency strike court injunctions and a few other Taft-Hartley law features in the Lesinski bill. But the CIO's general counsel, Arthur Goldberg, denied any such agreement.

And a high administration official said President Truman has turned thumbs down on suggestions for compromising. House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) is due to take the floor to oppose the wood bill this week and he may indicate any administration willingness for concessions.

The Republican amendments are designed to make the bill by Rep. Wood (D-Ga.) a little less restrictive on labor unions. This bill's GOP and southern Democrat supporters hope the concessions will make it more acceptable to the House. The Wood bill retains most of the T-H law.

Have Early Successes
Already the Wood bill backers have pushed through three amendments aimed at making the going easier for the measure.

Rep. McConnell (R-Pa.), senior Republican on the House labor committee, told reporters the following two more Wood bill amendments are "certain" to be brought up:

1. By Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), further softening the closed shop ban, permitting an employer, if he wishes, to give a union a "reasonable time" to send men to fill job vacancies. This is in line with a proposal planned by Senators Taft and Ohio, Ives of New York, and other Republicans.

2. By Rep. John Lodge (R-Conn.), permitting a union holding a "union shop" contract to get a man fired by expelling him for embezzlement of union funds or disclosing union secrets.

HANDLED EMERGENCY

Philadelphia, May 2 (AP)—B. Wright Yocum, farmer turned city dweller, rubbed his eyes and stared at the visitors in his front yard. They were, in the usual order, a milk cow, a heifer and a bay mare. The cow needed milking and the other two looked hungry. Yocum called police and then grabbed a bucket and milked the cow.

LEGAL NOTICES

RESOLUTION
Authorizing and approving a certain Purchase Agreement between Northeastern Water Company, a Delaware corporation, and Gettysburg Municipal Authority for the purchase by the Authority of all of the common stock of Gettysburg Water Company, a Pennsylvania corporation.

WHEREAS, The Chairman of Gettysburg Municipal Authority reported to the meeting that the Authority proposed to purchase all of the common stock of Gettysburg Water Company and, upon the consummation of such purchase, to forthwith satisfy any mortgage or other lien upon the property of Gettysburg Water Company, distribute all of its assets, real, personal and mixed, to the Authority as a liquidating dividend, and dissolve Gettysburg Water Company; and

WHEREAS, The Chairman of the Authority then submitted to the meeting the form of proposed Purchase Agreement to acquire all of the outstanding common stock of Gettysburg Water Company, which it was proposed be entered into between the Authority and Northeastern Water Company, and the agreement was read to the meeting paragraph by paragraph, and all of its terms and conditions were thoroughly discussed.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the proposed action of Gettysburg Municipal Authority to acquire all of the common stock of Gettysburg Water Company and, upon the consummation of such purchase, to forthwith satisfy any mortgage or other lien upon the property of the Gettysburg Water Company, distribute all of its assets, real, personal and mixed, to the Authority as a liquidating dividend, and thereupon dissolve Gettysburg Water Company, be, and the same is, in all respects approved, and BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the proposed Purchase Agreement to be entered into between the said Authority and Northeastern Water Company for the acquisition of the common stock of Gettysburg Water Company in the form read to this meeting, be and the same hereby is, in all respects approved, and the Secretary is directed to attach said proposed Purchase Agreement to the minutes of this meeting.

ADOPTED as Resolution No. 1, this 27th day of April, 1949.

H. M. OYLER, President of Council.

(SEAL) ANNA B. DRACHA, Borough Secretary.

Read and approved by me, this 27th day of April, 1949.

CLARENCE A. HEIGES, Chief Burgess.

CERTIFICATE

I, Anna B. Dracha, Secretary of the Borough Council of the Borough of Gettysburg, DO HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing is a true, correct, complete and conformed copy of a Resolution adopted by the Council of the Borough of Gettysburg as Resolution No. 1, at a meeting held April 27, 1949, at which a quorum was present and voting, approving the Purchase Agreement between Northeastern Water Company, a Delaware corporation and Gettysburg Municipal Authority for the purchase by the Authority of all of the common stock of Gettysburg Water Company, a Pennsylvania corporation, and that said Resolution has not been amended and is now in full force and effect.

WITNESS my official signature and the seal of the Borough Council of the Borough of Gettysburg, this 27th day of April, 1949.

(SEAL) ANNA B. DRACHA, Borough Secretary.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Gettysburg Water Company and Gettysburg Municipal Authority have negotiated and entered into an agreement wherein and whereby a new ten-inch water main is to be laid to connect the pumping station of the Water Company to the distribution system in the Borough of Gettysburg; and

WHEREAS, the Borough Council of the Borough of Gettysburg and Gettysburg Municipal Authority have requested that said main enter the Borough at a point making it possible to directly increase the pressure at the Northern end of said Borough; and

WHEREAS, in order to connect said proposed main with the northern end of the Borough it will be necessary to clean, repair and/or replace certain existing mains in accordance with the requirements of and recommendations of the consulting engineers; and

WHEREAS, the cost of laying the proposed new main and making the necessary improvements in connection therewith will exceed original estimate for a new main by approximately $25,000.00, and the agreement thereto was conditioned upon the work being done at no expense to the Water Company or to the Authority for permit fees for making excavations in the streets and alleys of the Borough; and

WHEREAS, in consideration thereof the Borough Council has consented and agreed to remit unto said Water Company and said Authority the permit fees for digging necessary trenches in borough streets and alleys for laying of said main and making necessary improvements in connection therewith as above set forth provided however, that the surface of said streets and alleys are restored by the Water Company or the Authority under the direction of the Borough Engineer and in accordance with his instructions.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Burgess and the Borough Council of the Borough of Gettysburg, Adams County, Pennsylvania, that Gettysburg Water Company and/or Gettysburg Municipal Authority be and they hereby are authorized to lay and construct a ten-inch water main in and along the streets and alleys of the Borough of Gettysburg and the Northern end thereof and through intervening mains, and to clean, repair and/or replace said intervening mains; and in consideration for such construction, cleaning repair and/or replacing, etc., the permit fees for necessary excavation in connection with said work, upon the restoration of the surface of said streets and alleys with materials then in use on said streets and alleys, and under the direction of and in accordance with the instructions of the Borough Engineer, be and the same hereby are remitted.

Adopted this 27th day of April, 1949.

H. M. OYLER, President of Council.

(SEAL) ANNA B. DRACHA, Borough Secretary.

Approved this 27th day of April, 1949.

CLARENCE A. HEIGES, Burgess.

URGE VARIETY OF SHRUBS TO BUILD INTEREST

Gardens clamor for greater variety of shrubs. That does not mean the old favorites should make place for others, but using a few of the lesser known and perhaps rare shrubs in combination with them will increase the interest in shrubs as a group.

The use of more firethorn (pyracantha), beautybush (kolkwitzia) and vitex is a step, but it is not enough. There are others which deserve consideration, among them clethra alnifolia, popularly known as summersweet, sweet pepperbush or white alder. It belongs in the company of rhododendrons, azalea and kalmia (mountain laurel) liking the same soil conditions and uniform moisture supply.

In nature it takes to the banks of streams and ponds, even swamp-land. Yet it gets along well under average garden conditions. It can endure considerable shade and grows taller than in full sun. Well established plants in the shade reach a height of ten feet; in full sun they seldom exceed six feet.

Last Summer Blooms

The beauty of the plant is in no small degree of result of suckering, but these shoots stay close to the base. The plant is dense down to the base, which is a valuable feature.

It is in full bloom in July, with some of the flowers lasting into August. This habit should focus special attention on it to bring color into the shrubbery border when it is urgently needed. It bears fleecy bottle-brushlike spikes set with ivory white blooms with numerous stamens and pistils protruding. It has a sweet spicy fragrance.

A mass planting is striking but the plant is not less desirable as individual specimens, combined with other shrubs or even under trees. It is native to a range which reaches from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico and does well under greatly varying garden conditions. Shade and lots of moisture produce the tallest plants, but in full sun they are more compact.

Acid Soil Needed

There is one condition it must have—acid soil. Mixing in a liberal quantity of leafmold or peatmoss will help to improve the soil and the addition of four pounds of finely pulverized sulphur for each 100 square feet is needed to turn an average soil into desired acid condition.

Mix the sulphur well with the soil at least as deep as the roots will reach at planting time. Its full effect will not appear until a month or more after use and while the weather is reasonably warm, since it depends on bacterial activities. The treatment should last for several years. If later tests show a decline in acidity, try aluminum or iron sulphate to restore a desirable degree of acidity. These two substances are soluble in water, therefore easily carried into the root zone.

There is a pink-flowered form of the plant named rosea, but its color is far from good. Some call it dusty pink, but dirty pink would describe it more accurately.

Commercially summersweet is propagated by division of older plants, which is a simple matter and yields a good increase on account of the suckering habit. Those who have a good strong plant can easily work up a great many others merely by removing some of the suckers early in the spring and planting them in a wet shaded place until the limited root system taken up with them has made a vigorous growth.

STALIN'S SON
LEADS PARADE
OF JET PLANES
FOR MAY DAY

By EDDIE GILMORE
Moscow, May 2 (AP)—Jet planes wrote a May Day message of mushrooming Soviet air might over Moscow's skies.
A father—Prime Minister Stalin—squinted into the bright afternoon sun as his son, Maj. Gen. Vasily Stalin led the traditional Communist demonstration.
Behind the theatrical magnificence of May Day, foreign observers saw a solid military reality: A strong jet propelled Soviet air arm.
"Very Interesting"
"It is very interesting to see the great development in the Soviet air force since 1946," was the cryptic comment of Lieut. Col. S. Wennerstrom, Sweden's air attaché.
America's air attaché, Brig. Gen. Russell E. Randall, added: "The parade showed evidence of continued technical progress of the Soviet Air Force." (There have been repeated unconfirmed reports in the past that numerous German jet plane experts were taken to Russia from the Soviet zone of Germany after Nazi Germany's capitulation.) Marshal Stalin—a picture of physical fitness despite recent rumors—stood at sharp attention atop Lenin's tomb to watch Moscow's familiar May Day spectacle.

Massed artillery, trademark of Soviet strategy during the last war, roared in an ear-shattering command for the parade to begin. Kremlin chimed struck. The strains of the Hymn of the Soviet Union filtered across the jammed square.
Then Russia's May Day message to the world began:
The scream of jet planes in the sky.
The measured tread of infantrymen.
The precision of drilled guards divisions.
The band broke into martial music as more Soviet armed might paraded for the Russian crowd—and for the observant eyes of Western diplomats. There were marines, sailors, air force ground troops, paratroopers, military school cadets; there were long-gunned tanks, self-propelled guns, and old-fashioned cavalry.
"American reactionaries are preparing a new war," shouted Marshal Alexander Vassilevsky, the Soviet's new minister of the armed forces.
He accused America of "openly passing to an aggressive political course."
A familiar scapegoat—the Atlantic Pact—was cited as an indication of America's intentions.

Nine Die As Two-Day Series Of Tornadoes Lashes Through Five States

NEARLY 100 ARE HURT; OKLAHOMA IS HARDEST HIT

(By The Associated Press)
A two-day series of tornadoes lashed parts of the south and southwest Saturday and Sunday, killing nine persons and injuring almost 100.

Damage was estimated roughly at $2,000,000.

Mississippi and Louisiana were hit by tornadic winds yesterday. Twisters struck in Oklahoma and Texas Saturday. Western Kansas also received minor damage Saturday.

Oklahoma took the worst beating. Sixteen tornadoes struck in widely scattered parts of the state, causing five deaths. Approximately 75 persons were injured, with at least 50 being hurt in the vicinity of Norman, Okla. Norman is the site of the University of Oklahoma.

Four persons died in Texas. The tornado hit in the northwest part of the state.

Mississippi Hit
Nine persons were injured in a tornado which slashed through an oil field and three plantations near Homer, a small town in northwestern Louisiana. Of the nine, all negroes, two were in serious condition. Five homes and four barns were demolished.

In central and northeastern Mississippi, high winds damaged buildings, uprooted trees and cut power lines. No casualties were reported, however. Water River, Miss., was hardest hit. The winds also whipped through Houma, Okolona and Houston.

The dead in Oklahoma included: Jessie Harvey, 60, Spencerville; Calvin West, 59, Antlers; Newt Pruitt, 30, Utica; Hettie Fain, 11, McCloud; and Anita True, 7, Tulsa, killed near Meeker.

Couple And Child Die
In Texas, Bryant Wade, 60, his wife Myrtle, and their eight-year-old grandson, Malcolm, were killed when their home was demolished. They lived about four and one-half miles northwest of Telephone, a small town near the Oklahoma border.

Another Texan, J. E. Miller, 49, died as he crouched in a ditch to escape the twister. He apparently suffered a heart attack.

The Texas tornado caused damage estimated at about $50,000. The estimate was made by Bob Cantrell, editor of the Bonham Daily Favorite, who said about 15 houses and an unspecified number of farm buildings were destroyed or damaged. Homes were hit in the vicinity of Edhube and Lamasco, both near Bonham.

WEEK-END TOLL OF ACCIDENTS IN PENNA. IS 12

(By The Associated Press)
Accidents over the week-end cost the lives of 12 persons in Pennsylvania, including five highway crash victims.

Thirteen-year-old Richard Nace of Columbia drowned while swimming Sunday in the Susquehanna river near his home. His body was recovered from nine feet of water later.

At Reading, two servicemen were found alongside the Reading company tracks. Detectives identified the dead as Maj. Stanley J. Lis, 24, Reading, who just returned home from Germany, and Cpl. Walter Randayko, Jr., 36, of Philadelphia. Detective William O. Focht said the investigation indicated the two men fell from a Reading company passenger train.

Soldier Drowns
Another soldier drowned near Edgington, Pa., after a rented boat upset in the Delaware river. The army withheld the name of the victim pending notification of his family.

Also at Reading, six-year-old Anna Marie Hahn was burned when her dress caught fire. She died seven hours later in Community General hospital.

Clarence Stevenson, of Broad Top city, was killed three miles north of McConnellsburg in a collision of an automobile and tractor-trailer truck.

Fatally Burned
At Erie, Spencer Walker, 39, was burned to death in a gas furnace explosion at the General Electric plant. He died 20 minutes before his tour of duty ended.

George Mislevy, of St. Benedict, was killed by an automobile near his home. Coroner Joseph Govekar of Cambria county, said he had ordered an inquest in the accident three miles south of Barnesboro.

Joseph Paul Martino, 20, of South Fork was killed when the auto in which he was riding left the highway five miles east of Johnstown.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT FOR DUROCHER

New York, May 2 (AP)—Things brightened for Leo Durocher today as the suspended manager of the New York Giants prepared to leave for Cincinnati and a session with Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

The trigger-tempered Giant boss is scheduled to appear before the commissioner tomorrow and explain what happened after that game at the polo grounds last Thursday.

A vociferous Brooklyn fan—22-year-old Fred Boysen—contends Leo came up behind him, poked him and knocked him down. Leo says he did no such thing.

Durocher's chances for continued baseball employment took on a lighter hue when a source close to Chandler said yesterday that the commissioner was just being cautious when he slapped an indefinite suspension on "the Lip."

This spokesman, who didn't want his name used, said the commissioner feared some sort of vandalism might break out in the Harlem district if he didn't do something quickly. So he put Durocher in mufti.

This would indicate that Chandler

Chapter 9

Once they had left the bridge, Garrett and Felicity dared to breathe again as they drove swiftly down County Road and into Royal Palm Way.

They reached the white villa behind its impressive wall, and, as Garrett turned the car into the driveway, a policeman in uniform stopped him.

"I have a very important message for Mrs. Fleming about her baby," Garrett answered the question put to him.

"Okay, Buddy—let's have it," he suggested.

"Sorry," said Garrett. "The message is for Mrs. Fleming in person."

A very good-looking man who was not in uniform came up then, listened to Garrett's insistence that he see Mrs. Fleming in person. He looked hard at Garrett and Felicity for a moment, then mounted the running-board, saying curtly:

"Okay, feller—let's go. I'll take you to Mrs. Fleming."

Tippy was holding the baby. Felicity turned, beneath the eyes of half a dozen watchful, alert men, and took the tousled, sleepy baby from Tippy's arms. She heard the men gasp. There was a little movement. Their guide silenced that murmur, stilled that movement with a glance and a gesture as he guided Tippy, Felicity and Garrett into the house.

The butler stood at the door and, as he saw Felicity and Garrett, he cried out sharply. "That's the ones, Mr. Thorpe. Those are the trailer people—why, it's Master Allan, sir!"

There was a little cry, and a girl in white shark-skin shorts and a matching bag flew out of the big drawing room, stood for a moment, wide-eyed, before the miracle of her crowing baby held in Felicity's arms.

"You—found him! Oh, Lanny darling—"

Felicity's hands shot out and steadied Susan as she swayed a little and eased her to a chair. Holding her baby close, as he squirmed to free himself, Susan looked up at Felicity and her eyes widened and grew a little sick.

"Oh," she whispered faintly, her voice shaken with loathing and incredulity. "You are a woman—how could you possibly do such a horrible thing to another woman?"

"Oh, come now, Mrs. Fleming—wait a minute," protested Garrett, because Felicity was beyond speech. "You surely don't believe that Felicity—Miss Horne here—kidnapped your baby?"

"If you'd just let me explain what happened," Felicity managed to say in the momentary silence.

"Let you? My dear young lady," said Mr. Thorpe, "we insist upon it." Garrett interrupted quietly, putting out a hand, drawing Tippy forward. "If you'll give this young lady a chance," he said, "I think she can tell you what you want to know."

She was an exquisite child and Thorpe found himself smiling at her hearteningly.

"Don't look so terrified, infant," he consoled her. "Nobody's going to bite you."

"We-e-ell," she began hesitantly, "he's such a perfectly beautiful baby—and I've always been crazy about babies—and we were all down on the beach and—he wanted to play with me. Then when Fliss called us and said we had to go—well, he didn't want me to leave. I didn't know whose baby he was—and he was all alone there behind one of the big dunes, so I just—well, I didn't want to see him cry, and so I just sort of picked him up."

Susan was staring at her over the baby's curly head.

"Did you see this man on the beach, little girl?" she asked gently.

Tippy looked up into the middle-aged man's convulsed face and said sweetly, "Oh, yes—only he was way down at the other end talking to a lady in a bathing suit."

"It's a lie!" howled the man, avoiding Susan's eye.

"And you didn't see a woman in white—the baby's nurse?" Susan went on questioning Tippy.

Tippy hesitated and then she grinned. "Yes—she was lying on a great big striped towel near a sand-heap, asleep," she said.

"Miss Wallace, you're discharged," said Susan sternly. The nurse stiffened, her face scarlet beneath her starched white cap. "Higgins, you and Morris are discharged, too," Susan went on. "See my secretary for your checks."

"I can't tell you how sorry I am, Mrs. Fleming, that all this has happened," said Felicity.

Susan's arms closed about the baby, who was struggling, holding out a pleading hand to Tippy, gurgling at her. She drew closer to him, taking that small, pleading hand in hers, bending her head to murmur to him.

Susan looked up at Felicity and her eyes were shining. "I think I understand," she stammered, smiling a little. "And after all, I do owe you a lot for showing me how inefficient my body-guards and my nurse were."

"I can't ask you to come back and camp here, because of this silly law," said Susan a little later. "But I can offer you the hospitality of my private beach any time you want to bring the children over. I'll give orders about that."

Felicity held her breath when she and Garrett were in the car a little later, a subdued but speculative

Tippy in the back all alone, and the car was going down the drive. She didn't breathe freely until they had crossed the arched white bridge in safety and the car was approaching Ma Green's Trailer Camp. And then suddenly she burst into tears.

"Fliss, stop it—do you hear me?" snapped Garrett, almost as terrified of her breakdown as the saucer-eyed Tippy was. He brought the car to a halt, caught Felicity by her shoulders and shook her hard until she gulped and her teeth stopped chattering and the frozen look melted a little from her face.

"T-thanks, Carry. Another minute—and I'd have been hysterical," she stammered faintly.

Chapter 10

He drove into the camp, parked his car and helped Felicity out. He then turned to Tippy, who was scrambling out, a wary eye upon Garrett's stern face.

"Tippy," he said in an ostentatiously gentle voice as she would have sped past him, "I'd like a word with you, my girl."

Felicity whirled and her startled eyes met his.

Felicity looked down at the small, set face; if there had been one faint, tiny hint for sympathy, one plea for rescue in Tippy's face, one scared look in her wide dark eyes, Felicity would have broken and fought Garrett for her. But the very hardness in that small face, the set of that rosebud mouth that was just a thin, pink line, warned Felicity that for Tippy's own good Tippy had to be punished.

Felicity drew a long, hard breath, straightened her shoulders, touched Tippy's shining curls with a fleeting caress and fled.

Tippy watched her go, and then Tippy lifted her face to Garrett's and said through clenched teeth, "You can spank the livin' daylight out of me, but I won't cry! You can't make me cry!"

She met his eyes steadily, without a hint of breaking. Her mouth was a stubborn line; her eyes were sulky, daring him; challenging his authority; yet admitting herself too small and weak to avoid his physical violence. And suddenly Garrett was conscious of being very much ashamed.

Meeting her stormy gaze, he knew the exact moment when Tippy realized that he was no longer blindly furious, and suddenly he was a little ashamed of his desire for physical violence.

That derisive gleam in her eye, that faint tugging of a smile at the corners of her mouth, stiffened his determination and quickened again his anger. He turned, swung open the door of his trailer, and said sternly, "Inside, youngster—and make it snappy."

Garrett stared down at her and then he thrust one hand in his pocket, the other through his tousled blonde locks and strode a pace or two away from her before he turned, dropped down on the couch, and said sternly, "Of course you know, Tippy, that you deserve a sound licking—don't you?"

"Then why don't you get started?" demanded Tippy boldly.

Garrett's face darkened and his hands reached out and jerked her to his knee. But the smallness and frailness of her body between his strong hands struck at him like a physical blow. "Hang it all, Tippy—I can't lick you!" he admitted his defeat ignominiously.

Tippy leaned confidently against him, her eyes quite sober. "I knew I had no business bringing the baby back, but—well, they were so mean about not letting us play on their old beach."

Garrett stared at her dawning horror.

"Then you stole the baby deliberately?" he demanded.

"ately?" he demanded.

Tippy nodded, an impish smile tugging at the corners of her mouth. "To get even with that fat old man who called us ragamuffins and made us leave their beach," she acknowledged frankly.

"But, Tippy—that's terrible—" Garrett was all but speechless.

She nodded soberly. "I know it was, and I'm sorry—now. I do have to be punished, don't I?"

"You do indeed, Tippy, my imp," said Garrett grimly. "But much as I know you deserve it, I—well, I can't do it."

Tippy hesitated and then her better nature for a moment overrode the impishness of her and she offered shyly, "Well, I'd hate it like the dickens if my hair wasn't curly and if I had to wear shorts all the time and couldn't ever dress up and have people say, 'Why, what an exquisite child!'"

He sat staring at her for a moment, dumbfounded, before he shook his head and admitted, "You defeat me utterly, Tippy. Okay, then—it's short and your hair in a pigtail."

"How long, Garry?"

"A week?" Garry suggested weakly.

Her mouth drooped forlornly but she nodded. "A week, Garry—beginning today?"

"Beginning today," said Garrett. She looked up at him for a long, sober moment. Then, without a word, she turned towards the doorway and Garrett followed her out into the sunlight.

"I know it had to be done, Garry," Felicity said shakily, "only she's so little—"

"If you mean did I spank her—not!" Garrett said. "She—well, she licked me, if you know what I mean."

Tippy came towards them. A Tippy whose shining curls had been braided into two tight pigtails and whose small body was encased in faded shorts and a matching halter. She glared at each of the other children with a look that dared any comment, then stalked out of the trailer.

Felicity looked at Garrett, startled. And Garrett nodded, unsmiling.

"It was her own idea," he confessed. "She chose it as punishment when I turned yellow and couldn't spank her. She said it was the one thing she hated most, looking homely—and what could I do?"

Garrett's frown did not quite fade. Suddenly he spoke his thoughts aloud. "I'm very much afraid we're going to have trouble with her."

Felicity's eyes flew wide. Garrett realized that little betraying "we" as quickly as she did and, for a moment, they stared at each other, startled, realizing suddenly how things were drifting.

"Hey, Fliss, how's about it? I'm starved!" said Jason, and Felicity was able to tear her eyes away from Garrett's startled gaze and the spell was broken. But for the next few hours Felicity was a little shy of Garrett and a little self-conscious.

And Garrett went away to his cabin with an uneasy feeling that he had stepped out beyond his depth and something must be done about it. Only, not right away, of course.

Berlin may be set this week.

The clamorous session in the slow and careful negotiations to end the blockade is expected to come as soon as one of the parties tells the other "let's meet." That presumably will happen this week—in New York.

Present prospects are that this meeting may reach agreement on ending the Russian blockade and the allies' counter-blockade and setting a date for a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers on the German question.

Secrecy Observed

Both the Americans and Russians involved in the negotiations thus far have maintained strictest secrecy about their progress. The outline of the situation has become only slightly less hazy since news of the first sessions was announced by Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, U. S. ambassador at large, said after his last meeting with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob Malik the talks were "proceeding satisfactorily."

The London Daily Herald, organ of Britain's ruling labor party, said today Malik suggested to Jessup at Friday's meeting that the blockade be lifted at the end of the first week in June. The story, credited to the newspaper's London diplomatic correspondent, gave no source for its information.

One of the apparent reasons for the length of the negotiations is a reported desire by U. S. officials to be absolutely certain the Russian offer to lift the blockade has no strings attached other than those made public by Tass.

That offer was to lift the blockade if the western powers would give up their counter-blockade and set a date acceptable to the Soviet for a Big Four meeting on Germany.

The western powers want to be sure the Russians haven't a gimmick hidden away with which they might try to prevent formation of a western German state.

If a Big Four meeting is arranged it probably will be held in Paris sometime in May or June.

"FURNITURE ON THE SQUARE"

MANY DECISIONS YET TO BE MADE AT THIS SESSION

Washington, May 2 (AP)—It's just beginning to get good in Congress now. Meaning, there'll be a little more action.

Congress has passed the half-way mark in this year's session, with four months gone and maybe two or three left to go.

Don't feel bad if you're an average person who's been reading about Congress for four months and find now you can't remember precisely what's happened here. The fact is, nothing much has happened. It's been mostly talk, argument and jockeying.

Slow Going So Far
The going has been pretty slow, particularly in the Senate, but the first few months of any session always drag.

That's because those months are always used in getting the big bills ready for debate and a vote in both House and Senate. They're pretty much taken up with long committee hearings on the bills, and the brigades of witnesses who make headlines.

About the only action completed by Congress—meaning House and Senate together—was passage of the new rent control law.

Pretty Much Up In Air
Aside from that, everything else has been pretty much up in the air, with action by the House on this, by the Senate on that, but seldom by both Houses on any one thing.

For example, the Senate has approved a bill to give the states $25,000,000 to provide better care for children's health. But the House isn't ready to tackle that bill yet and it can't become law unless the House approves.

True, both Houses okayed continuing the Marshall Plan another year. But—Neither House has yet voted the money, or appropriations, for doing it. When they get around to it, there'll be some explosions because a lot of men want to cut down on spending.

This week the House expects to

Kelley Again Heads Catholic Veterans

York, Pa., May 2 (AP)—James Patrick Kelly, Jr., of Newtown Square, again heads the Pennsylvania Catholic War Veterans. Kelly was elected to the state commander post he held in 1946-48 at the annual convention here Saturday. He voted on a new labor bill. But that's only half the job. We won't have a new labor law until the Senate also votes, which won't be for some time yet.

Meanwhile, this week the Senate expects to vote $300,000,000 to help states do a better job in educating their children. That won't become law, either, unless the House also approves, some time later.

President Truman's civil rights program is still up in the clouds. And it may get blocked out of this session.

PA. LEGISLATURE ENDS SHORTEST TERM SATURDAY

Harrisburg, May 2 (AP)—What the 1949 General Assembly did—and failed to do—went into the record books today as the backbone of the 1950 political campaign.

The shortest regular session in 20 years came to a dramatic, fighting close late Saturday.

The drama came in a dash back to the capitol by automobile, train and airplane of nine Republican Representatives, who had jumped the gun on final adjournment.

A bill setting up a new system of computing employer taxes for unemployment compensation to workers provided the final battle of the session. With the help of the gun-jumping Representatives, the measure was passed as the last act of the session 110-75, with only five votes to spare.

Elections Loom
Then, after the closing formalities, the final gavel fell in the Senate at 5:15 p. m. (EST) and seven minutes later in the House.

As the Legislators went home they left behind the work of a four month session for analysis by candidates and voters in the 1950 campaign.

The next governor, a U. S. Senator, and members of the Legislature, among other officials, will be elected next year. Gov. James H. Duff was mentioned frequently in debate in the session, just ended, as a possible candidate for the U. S. Senate post now held by U. S. Senator Francis J. Myers, Democrat. Myers is expected to run for re-election.

Major Measures
In addition to the compensation bill, major bills passed on the last day were those requiring automobile traffic to stop while school buses load and unload pupils, and raising the salary of top state officials from the Governor down.

The pay of the next executive Lee, Philadelphia; Paul G. Murray, went up from $18,000 to $25,000 and that of other elected officials and cabinet members was fixed uniformly at $15,000. Those salaries now range from $8,000 to $12,000.

Democrats called the dash-back of the nine Republicans to pass the compensation bill as "a mobilization for big business" to give it a $6,000,000 "gift." But Republicans claimed the measure was designed "to cure some inequities" in the present law.

The bill would establish a new reserve system to determine the amount of employer payroll taxes for jobless benefits. A separate fund would be set up for each employer in the Unemployment Compensation Bureau. The rate for each employer, ranging from one-half of one percent, would be based on the relation between the amount in his fund and his annual payroll.

No FEPC Bill
Over objection of the Democratic minority and some Republicans, a provision was stricken from the bill that would have made workers on part-time eligible for jobless benefits. The assembly directed its joint state government commission to make a study of the part-time issue and report to the next session.

Making the record on fair employment practices legislation entirely negative, the legislature failed to act on a proposal to have the same agency study the problem of banning job discrimination because of race, color or creed.

The Senate, after killing two FEPC bills in committee, approved such an inquiry. The House let it die in committee.

The House Republican leadership discovered, before calling up the compensation bill, that there were insufficient GOP representatives on hand to pass it. Telephone calls were rushed through to the nine missing members. The final adjournment was held up for hours until they arrived.

Nine Called Back
Those called back were Reps. George W. Cooper and Ronald L. Thompson, Allegheny county; Albert E. Madigan, Bradford; Louis A. Bloom, Delaware; Lambert Cadawaller, Montgomery; Thomas H.

Emmitsburg

Mrs. Ruth Stansbury, Towson, Md., visited during the past week with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Kerrigan have returned home after spending a week with their son, David, at Great Lakes, Michigan. On their return trip they visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Norris, of Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. Norris is the former Harriet Stinson.

Mrs. Buelah Marshall, near St. Anthony's, was removed on Wednesday to the Mercy hospital, Baltimore, in the VP ambulance where she received treatments.

Mrs. J. Scott Randolph spent Thursday in Baltimore.

Mrs. A. W. Eckenrode, Mrs.

Lancaster, and Thomas P. Harney and William E. Brown, Chester.

The Governor has 30 days in which to act on legislation left in his hands by the assembly.

Other bills passed on the final day included:

Setting up regulations for operation of school buses as a safety measure. They would require motorists to stop while school buses load or unload on highways.

Giving farmers a $1,500,000 annual refund in state gasoline taxes.

Increase salaries of associate judges from $720 to $1,200 a year.

Clarify the law to permit domestic and out of state corporations to file in the common pleas court of the surviving corporation any merger plans.

Prohibit corporations from using in their title words such as "university" and others referring to the PUC or state banking department.

Require corporations to list the actual value of property when applying for state corporation papers instead of assuring that it has $500 in cash.

Charles Cinegran, Mrs. Joshua Wingerd and Mrs. Agnes Garner spent Wednesday in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moriarity, Winchester, Mass., spent several days during the past week with her father, Harry E. Weant, and her brother, Frank W. Weant, and with friends in and about town.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Glass and family of Kissimmee, Florida, are spending six weeks with relatives around town.

Guests recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Humerick were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lytle and children and Miss Mary Neely, of Altoona.

On May 19 at 8:30 p. m. a concert will be given by the Freshman Glee club of Mount St. Mary's in the Mount gymnasium. A special feature of the evening will be a contralto singer, Mrs. Mae O'Keefe, of Baltimore. There will also be group singing of Mountain Songs written by the graduates of Mount St. Mary's. The Rev. Peter A. Coad is Moderator for the group. The Rev. David W. Shaum, of St. Vincent's, Baltimore, is music director for the Glee club. Tickets will be available the first week in May and the cost will be 55c. The public is invited.

The Entre Nous Sewing club was entertained recently at the home of Mrs. Claude Cori, Sabillasville, Md. A luncheon was served and the birthday of Mrs. E. L. Higbee was celebrated. Bannister Gymnast Dies Sunday Near 102

Scranton, Pa., May 2 (AP)—Florence, E. Dolph, who celebrated her last two birthdays by sliding down the bannister in her home, died yesterday, 13 days before her 102nd birthday.

Born May 19, 1847, in Dickson City, Pa., Miss Dolph moved to California in 1902, lived there 44 years and then returned to Scranton.

The bannister slides last year and in 1947 were, Miss Dolph said, to demonstrate her good health and agility. Her health continued good until recently.

She was the oldest alumna of Lewisburg seminary—now Bucknell university. Private funeral services will be held Wednesday.

Predicts Conference Soon On Germany

Paris, May 2 (AP)—French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman said today that is "seems more and more probable" that a four-power foreign ministers' conference on Germany will be held this spring.

He predicted the date will be determined later this week during four-power conversations at New York.

(This was the first indication that France and Britain might join directly in the talks which have been held in New York between Dr. Philip Jessup, U. S. ambassador at large, and Jakob Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister.)

Schuman told a news conference he was "optimistic enough" that a four-power foreign ministers' meeting would be held.

LAST ESCAPE ROUTE FROM SHANGHAI GONE

By FRED HAMPTON

Shanghai, May 2 (AP)—Traffic was reported suspended today on the last railway escape route from Communist-menaced Shanghai to south China.

Inside the city, the chaotic money market crashed at mid-day. After garrison headquarters outlawed free trading in prewar silver dollars on threat of death—obviously a measure of great desperation.

The Red radio last night said eight Chinese government armies were "wiped out" and parts of four other armies "routed" in the Nan-king-Shanghai-Hangchow area. (A Chinese army is usually 20,000 men.) The Red broadcast's claim of a "great victory" was not confirmed by government sources.

Reds Penetrate

The semi-official Chinese Central News Agency said rail service had been suspended between Hangchow and Nanchang. Hangchow is a seaport, resort city and communications center 100 air miles southwest of Shanghai. Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province, is about 280 miles farther southwest—almost midway between Shanghai and Canton, provisional Nationalist capital on the south coast.

(This was the first indication that the Communist offensive might have penetrated so deeply into south China. Previous dispatches have indicated the main Red thrust was aimed at Hangchow.)

(Central News, however, did not say what caused suspension of rail traffic between Hangchow and Nanchang or where Red troops—if any—were operating along the line.)

Report Red Reverses

A Shanghai garrison communique said Nationalist forces still were holding Kunshan, 32 miles west of Shanghai, despite heavy Red artillery bombardment at the outskirts of the town. The communique claimed Nationalist successes in fighting in the Kunshan area.

It said units from the 29th Communist army attacked Chingyang-kang, prewar locale of the famed Henli Regatta, about a mile from Kunshan, but were driven westward after "a heavy engagement during which the Communists suffered heavy casualties."

A small Red force which reached the vicinity of Taichang, a mile or so northeast of Kunshan, was eliminated by Nationalist troops, the garrison announced.

Says Cigarette Tax Stamps Were Stolen

Harrisburg, May 2 (AP)—The 500,000 state cigarette tax stamps found in a New York automobile were stolen from the company that manufactures the stamps, says the state Revenue department.

W. H. Beachy, deputy revenue scheduled walkouts today of members of the steelworkers union and a local of the Textile workers union, their officials say. The steelworkers seek 25 cents hourly increase. Present wage scale is $2.65 an hour.

secretary, said last night an investigation showed the stamps were "rejects" from the American Decalcomania company, New York, and had been ear-marked for destruction.

The stolen stamps, valued at approximately $20,000, were found by New York police last week while searching an automobile. The occupants of the car, Carl E. Di Pietro, 19, and Joseph Russo, 21, both of New York, were charged with criminally receiving stolen goods.

Beachy, who returned from leading investigation in the case, said while the stamps were considered rejects, they were still usable. Each stamp is worth four cents.

Washington, May 2 (AP)—There is a possibility Mrs. Robert L. Coffey, Jr., the former Eileen Mercado-Parra of Puerto Rico, may be a candidate to succeed her husband in Congress.

A well-informed authority told a reporter yesterday the subject had been discussed with Mrs. Coffey and that she plans to go to Johnstown, Pa., May 5. Mrs. Coffey could not be reached personally at her home in suburban Silver Spring, Md.

Philadelphia, May 2 (AP)—Mrs. Ward Wheelock, socially prominent suburbanite and wife of an advertising executive, was found dead Friday in a bathtub in her Haverford home. Montgomery county coroner W. J. Rushong listed her death at suicide. An autopsy will be performed.

Mrs. Wheelock, whose husband heads the New York-Philadelphia advertising firm that bears his name, was widely known for her work as president of the local pack-ages for Britain movement.

Albany, N. Y., May 2 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who bit the dust twice in running for president, nurses a deep-down desire for another shot at the White House.

This came out Friday when an unimpeachable source thoroughly familiar with Dewey's views disclosed that the 1944 and 1948 Republican standard bearer, contrary to frequent reports, has not decided to return to private life when his gubernatorial term ends December 31, 1950.
